CROWD WAITS IN VAIN FOR THE

IGREAT MISSION BUARDS GLUSE THE YEAR WITH UNSATISFACTORY REGEIPTS

Presbyterian and Baptist Home and Foreign Mission Boards Report Shrinkage of Contributions; Church Dispute May Prevent Union Plans Being Carried Out by Presbyterian Bodies.

Four great mission boards, ending their fiscal years with April 1, find last year to have been unsatisfactory, with little of the expected increase in receipts coming from recent convention campaigns. The four are the Presbyterian and the Baptist, home and foreign each. The Presbyterian and foreign each. The Presbyterian and foreign each of the fulling off was in legacies, still the churches was in legacies, still the churches work $1,491,000 the previous ance of $45,000 left from the previous ance of $45,000 left from the previous year, and so was able to put into its work $1,494,000 during the year and yet close without debt. The Baptist home society increased by $67,000 with receipts of $448,000. A considerable pair was, however, increase in special gifts. John D. Rockefeller offered bonuses for increases, and it is estimated that all Eaptist mission boards will receive $50,000.

The Presbyterian and Baptist foreign boards have not, at this writing, just made, to the effect that the mated that all Baptist mission coards will receive $50,000.

The Presbyterian and Baptist foreign boards have not, at this writing, completed their footings, but it is stated that both of them will report deficits, and the latter a considerable increase in debt.* Legacles have been fewer in number and amount, but the churches have not, as expected, responded to appeals. General benevolence, apart from relief in cases of disaster, has had an unsatisfactory year, just why no one seems to know. Vast receipts from farm products, calculated upon to reach missions in some amounts, are reported as having shown up less than in many years. It has been the large churches in cities that have responded with such increases as are reported and not the churches in similar towns, supposedly nearer the farmers. So far nobody can be found who claims to be able to see any improvement ahead.

UNITED BRETHERN SEND MUCH MONEY TO DAYTON

United Brethern, whose 300,000 members are in greatest numbers in Ohio and Pennsylvania, are coming to the financial aid of their publishing house at Dayton. This house, one of the best in any religious body, withstood the flood and fire although in the midst of both for days. Missionary societies, their headquarters in the building, suffered little, but the loss to the publication house, in stock, machinery and income, will reach $125,000, possibly more. There has been influence exerted to induce removal from Dayton to some city less likely to be owever, that leaders refuse to listen

The manner of the financial relief is The manner of the financial relief is the loan of small sums, without interest, for one and two years. Apart from that, many small gifts are being received. Funds in hands of ministers and treasurers of churches, belonging to the publication board, are being rushed to Dayton, it is reported, and indications are that the department will be, within a short time, in almost the same forehanded condition it was before the flood came. In common with others, United Brethern are finding that the damage to churches in Dayton and other cities affected by the flood is much less than was at first estimated.

CHURCH DISPUTE OVER VIEWS MAY PREVENT UNION It is reported that Union Theological eminary, made famous by the Briggs and McGiffert heresy trials, will issue a statement giving its scriptural views, which statement will be presented by a committee at Atlanta, where the Presbyterian general assembly meets on May 14. This committee was named last year to bring about, if possible, official relations again between Union Seminary and the Presbyterian church. It is further reported that Union seminary will undertake the support of a new professor who shall teach Presbyterian history and polity exclusively. J. J. Armstrong, switchman for the G. H., arrived in El Paso Saturday night from Springfield, Ill., accompanied by his brother. Willie Stewart, switchman for the Santa Fe, has reported for duty after a short layoff, and has been assigned with foreman May. Engineer J. H. Harper, for the Santa Fe, has been assigned to the Bum en-gine in the El Paso yard, after being on the Rincon local for several trips. Harry Latta and Joe McDougal, car repairers for the T. & P. in El Paso, went to Van Hern Sunday to inspect the cattle cars that were being loaded.

The book committee, the great business part of the Methodist church, has concluded its sessions. To it the Methodist book concern reports sales of literture last year to the values of $2,521,000, an increase over the previous year of $102,000. Of this amount $382,000 were sales in the east, namely New York, Boston, Pitisburg and Detroit, and $1,529,300 in the west, Cincinnati, Chicago, Kansas City and Sar Francisco. A part of this gain, especially in the west, is due to enormous increase in the sales of Sunday school literature. Both the graded and the ungraded series grow steadily in Methodism.

There was declared a dividend of $250,000, the same amount as the provious year, this figure being the highest in the history of the book cuncern.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH QUARREL IS CARRIED VOLUNTEER CONGRESS

The Episcopal church congress, a volunteer body meeting once a year to discuss church subjects of popular and yet church character, split its controling board by deciding bereafter to allow other than Episcopalians on its platform as speakers, and decilning to take action against certain of its official board who had invited high church Episcopalians to get out of the church and go to the Roman Catholic one. The editor of the "Living Church." Frederick C. Morebouse, a member of the governing body of the congress, objected to the Rev. Dr. A. G. ENCHARISTIC CONGRESS TO MEET ON ISLAND OF MALTA.

The most notable event to occur on the historic Island of Malta for many years in the 14th International Eucharistic congress, which will open in the city of Valletta on April 23. A large delegation of priests and laymen from the United States is expected to arrive tomorrow. The pope has designated cardinal Ferrata, of Syracuse, Sicily, as the Fapal Legate, and he will be conveyed to Malta by a British warship, arriving here on April 22. The cardinal will be received on board the warship by the auxiliary bishop Mgr. F. A. Fortelli, O. Maita is a peculiarly appropriate setting for the Eucharistic congress, for it was on this island that St. Paul and his Roman captors are said to have been shipwrecked, while the great apostic to the Gentiles was being taken to Rome to be tried before Caesar. ITALIAN WILL BE CHOSEN NEXT POPE

Church Fears Progressiveness of America and Political Disputes Preclude Spanish Choice.
Rome, Italy, April 21—While the populace has given its attention to Pope Pius X's illness, Catholic leaders, both in the hierarchy and out of it, royalty at all capitals of Europe, and public men of Italy in all walks, have given attention to the next pope, who he will be, what policies will govern him. It is agreed in all quarters that there is at present far less a degree of certainty that obtained at the deaths of either Pius IX or Leo XIII. The next pope will be an Italian, and he will be one who is familiar with Spain and a friend of Spain. It is idle to speculate about other than an Italian being chosen. Folitical reasons make an Italian necessary now as they have done for 200 years, first because of temporal power, and second because of attitude of the present government. A pope of French, German er Austrian astionality could not be chosen, and as for an American, to be frank, America is distrusted by reason of its size and power, its possible innovations. Its very progressiveness.

Americans.

The next pope will not come from the south of Italy. He will not be an Italian prelate that is, or supposed to be, too close to Italian political ideals. He will not be a member of any of the orders. He will be one who has had administrative experience and has attained the rank of bishop, and he will hardly be one who is as old as Pope Plus was at his election. All of these conditions diminish the number of available prelates very materially.

All of these conditions diminish the aumiest of available prelates very materially.

By far the most powerful personality at the moment is Cardinal De Lai. Closely associated with pope Plus N. in a congregation for some years, he was recently promoted to an urban see of Rome. He is and long has been the power in the vailcan.

Another strong personality among the six is Cardinal Lugari. He was an eminent Hallan brwyer before taking boly orders, and a man of large affairs. He is a man of large affairs still. In the curia he has had and is having the very administrative experience a pope of Rome has need for. Cardinal Maffi is younger than some others, successful administrator of a see, not great as a see, is a prelate to he reckoned on. The king has his summer villa nearby, and Maffi has shown him some attention. This service may hart him in the conclave. Cardinal Ferrata went to Paris as nuncio, only to be recalled after five years. He might not suit France as pope, but France has taken herself out of the papal situation. Still, there are fractic efforts in hand to bring about diplomatic relations again, and the church of Rome hopes for much from president Poincare. Finally, Cardinal Vico, long resident in Spalin, a diplomat and never at the head of a dlocese, may be chosen in the present desire to hold Spanish influence.

SENTENCE SERMONS IN PULPITS OF EL PASO

Self denial, sel fsacrifice, self abnegation- is the road over which Jesus traveled, and if we find Jesus we must go the way he went. Jesus said: "He that taketh not his cross and followeth after me is not worthy of me."-Rev. C. Wesley Webdell, at Trinity Methodist church.

We go down to the sea to a life of service and opportunity, duty and responsibility, uncertainty and mystery; we go forth full of hope and noble aspirations, we exult in life's commencement and take little thought of what awaits us on the open sea .- Rev. C. L. Overstreet, at First Presbyterian church.

Universal peace will result only in the universal spirit of brotherhood and the spirit of universal brotherhood will only result from the acknowledgment of Jesus Christ as lord and master and savior, by the world .- Rev. A. E. Boyd, at Highland Park Baptist church.

God's word explodes the notion that evil of any kind is physical; it is psychic and is entirely mind controled and people can live just as good as they think they can.-Rev. J. E. Abbott, at Westminster Presbyterian church.

The reality of the unseen world compared to things material and temporal is real and eternal .- Rev. E. C. Morgan, at Highland Park Methodist church.

man, and went out on $34 Sunday afternoon.

J. Y. Starkey, switch engine fireman for the T. & P., has reported for duty, after being off sick for several days, and Charile Huthmacher, hostier helper, who has been firing in his place, is on his regular job again.

Harrell J. Arnold, clerk in the Santa Fe office at El Paso, has resigned and will leave the first of May for New York City, and Frank Scottan will transfer from the city office to fill the vacancy. If you should remove from the consideration of men the horrors of hell, you would have no human law worthy the name. No thief would find a prison cell, no murderer would feel the halter draw; knowing the terror of the Lord, we persuade men. Fear of God's penalty upon evil doers is a mighty factor in making home secure and lives safe,-Rev. J. F. Williams, at First Baptist church.

> In 99 cases out of 100, it is the giving up of some sin rather than a matter of unbelief that holds a man back from an acceptance of Christ .- Rev. Henry Easter, at Church of St. Clement.

Cheveland square was crowded with disappointed people Sunday afternoon. It was announced Thursday that the Dallas chamber of commerce hand would give a concert in Cleveland square Sunday afternoon complimentary to the people of El Paso. The band went across the river to see the sights over on the Mexican side and falled to return in time for the concert. By 5.30 the square was filled with Sunday afternoon strollers who waited patiently until 4:30 for the band concert. The Dallas hand gave a concert at the Sheldon Sunday morning after the parade from the union station. Blood counts for something, environment counts for something in a man's life, but the grace of God counts for most. It regenerates, reforms, transforms, and glorifies. It is as abundant as the air we breathe and is as fathomless as the sea, and by it we rise onward and upward towards the golden age of man .-Rev. W. C. Baber, at Altura Park Presbyterian church.

There is nothing that is quite so hard for a gentle, trustful nature to bear, nothing that leaves such a gaping, painful wound in a tender heart as the realization of a misplaced trust; the betrayal by a friend.—Rev. Kennth Brown, at East El Paso Presbyterian church...

The gospel of Jesus Christ is designed for the whole world, and Christ says, "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature."-Rev. Ed. L. Millican, at East El Paso Baptist church. Let us seek and know; know God's writing on the wall of time, and then let which were taken from his automobile on Brown street several days ago were recovered by the city detectives following the arrest of Smith Atkinson and Jasper Atkinson Saturday afternoon. A complaint charging the two with theft over $50 was filed in the court of the justice of the peace E. B. McClinfock.

us in the spirit of the present seek for the tracing out of newer truths and strive to live as the message comes to us.—Rev. Miles Hanson, at the First Congregational We are each of us something more than individuals, we are parts of a larger whole which makes its contributions to our lives and in return requires a contribution from us .- Rev. Perry J. Rice, at First Christian church.
